First Periodic Review of Scottish Parliament boundaries
North Lanarkshire Council and South Lanarkshire Council areas
Revised Recommendations for constituencies and Provisional
Proposals for regions

Commission launches public consultation on proposals for Scottish Parliament boundaries

The Boundary Commission for Scotland today publishes its Revised Recommendations for constituencies and its Provisional Proposals for regions as part of its first review of boundaries for the Scottish Parliament. The review of Scottish Parliament boundaries is unrelated to the elections for the European Parliament.

The Commission has produced its Revised Recommendations for constituencies in the North Lanarkshire and South Lanarkshire council areas in response to representations received and the reports of the Local Inquiries held in Airdrie, Ayr and Lanark and elsewhere during September and October of 2008. The Revised Recommendations significantly depart from those proposed under the Commission's Provisional Proposals for the South West and Central Scotland area.

The Commission's Revised Recommendations comply with the recommendations made by the Assistant Commissioner, who heard the evidence presented at the above Local Inquiries. The Commission's Revised Recommendations propose nine constituencies exactly covering the combined council areas of North and South Lanarkshire. The revised arrangements more closely follow the existing constituencies for the Scottish Parliament. The Commission proposes no significant alterations to its Provisional Proposals for East Kilbride, Motherwell and Wishaw and Rutherglen. Alternative constituency names have been proposed for six out of the nine constituencies proposed under the Commission's Revised Recommendations.

The changes to the Commission's Provisional Proposals can be summarised as follows;

- The Commission's earlier proposals included constituencies crossing from South Lanarkshire council area into East Ayrshire council area, and from both North and South Lanarkshire council areas into West Lothian council area. Neither of these is now being recommended;
- Airdrie is now contained in a single constituency which is similar to the existing Airdrie and Shotts Scottish Parliament constituency;
- The areas of North Lanarkshire around Chryston and Kilsyth are now both in constituencies wholly contained within North Lanarkshire;
- The southern and eastern parts of South Lanarkshire council area now sit in a single constituency with Lanark.

The full set of constituencies recommended for these council areas is:

|-----------------------------------|-----------------|
| Airdrie and Shotts                | 51,620 electors |
| Clydesdale                        | 56,500 electors |
| Coatbridge and Chryston           | 51,290 electors |
| Cumbernauld and Kilsyth           | 49,410 electors |
| East Kilbride                     | 58,590 electors |
| Hamilton, Larkhall and Stonehouse | 57,350 electors |
| Motherwell and Wishaw             | 54,660 electors |
| Rutherglen                        | 58,350 electors |
| Uddingston and Bellshill          | 56,380 electors |

The Commission has also made Provisional Proposals for the 8 Scottish Parliament regions. The East Central Scotland region will include the constituencies covering North Lanarkshire including the Uddingston and Bellshill constituency, together with constituencies covering all of East Dunbartonshire and Falkirk council areas and parts of West Dunbartonshire and West Lothian council areas. This will result in a region containing 552,790 electors which is 12.8% above the average regional electorate.

The South Scotland region will include the constituency of Clydesdale, along with constituencies covering all of Dumfries and Galloway, East Ayrshire, Scottish Borders and South Ayrshire council areas and part of Midlothian council area. This will result in a region containing 465,770 electors which is 4.9% below the average regional electorate.

The West Central Scotland region will include the constituencies of East Kilbride and Hamilton, Larkhall and Stonehouse, along with constituencies covering all of East Renfrewshire, Inverclyde, North Ayrshire and Renfrewshire council areas. This will result in a region containing 477,430 electors which is 2.5% below the average regional electorate.

The Glasgow region will include the constituency of Rutherglen, along with constituencies covering all of Glasgow City council area. This will result in a region containing 493,950 electors which is 0.8% above the average regional electorate.

The Commission has also announced that if Scottish Ministers have implemented local authority boundary changes arising from current reviews by the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland before this parliamentary review is completed, it intends to incorporate those changes.

Further information on the proposals can be found on the Commission's website www.bcomm-scotland.gov.uk at Council headquarters offices and at a selection of local Council offices and libraries.

The public's views are sought on these proposals. Representations should be submitted by 21 June 2009 by e-mail to representations@scottishboundaries.gov.uk; by using the reply facility on the Commission's web site; in writing to The Secretary, Boundary Commission for Scotland, 3 Drumsheugh Gardens, Edinburgh EH3 7QJ; or by fax to 0131 538 7511. Under the Freedom of Information Act 2000, representations will be made available to those interested in the Review except in very exceptional circumstances.

The Commission's Secretary, Dr Hugh Buchanan said: "The Commission believes that these recommendations provide a good basis for Scottish Parliament boundaries. It is keen to hear any views on them, whether in agreement with the proposals or not."

The Commission expects to complete the review and submit its report to the Secretary of State for Scotland by 30 June 2010.

Legal framework

This is the first review of constituencies and regions for the Scottish Parliament and is governed by the Scotland Act 1998 as amended by the Scottish Parliament (Constituencies) Act 2004.

The current constituency boundaries were established following the Commission's Fourth Periodical Report of Parliamentary Constituencies for the purpose of returning Scottish members to the Westminster Parliament, which was published in 1995. The current region boundaries were established as European Parliament constituencies in June 1996.

The Scotland Act 1998 envisaged that the boundaries of constituencies for the Westminster and Holyrood parliaments would be coterminous. This was amended by the Scottish Parliament (Constituencies) Act 2004, which fixed the number of constituencies for the Scottish Parliament at 73 and thus broke the link between the Holyrood and Westminster constituencies. The Commission's Fifth Periodical Review was completed in 2004 and resulted in the number of Scottish constituencies for Westminster being reduced to 59.

The legislation stipulates:

- 73 constituencies returning members to the parliament, only 71 are subject to review – for Orkney and Shetland, the Act specifies that each will be a separate constituency;
- 8 regions in Scotland, all of which are subject to review. Each region returns 7 members to the Scottish Parliament;
- A set of rules for designing constituencies and regions.

The review

Changes in the distribution of electorate, as well as changes to local government areas since the existing constituencies were defined have led the Commission to conclude that a comprehensive review is required. The review was announced on 3 July 2007.

The Commission published its Provisional Proposals for constituencies on 14 February 2008. This is the publication of Revised Recommendations following consideration of comments received on those Provisional Proposals.

The Commission is required to complete a review of the boundaries of constituencies and regions for the Scottish Parliament between 1 July 2007 and 30 June 2010.

Constituency and region design

When designing constituencies and regions, the Commission is required to observe rules which are set down in legislation. The rules for constituencies include requirements to have regard to local authority boundaries; to aim to have the same number of electors in each constituency; to take account of special geographical considerations; and to consider the local effects of alterations. The rules for regions include requirements to form each region by combining a number of constituencies; to take account of special geographical considerations; and to aim to have the same number of electors in each region.

The electoral quota for the review is 54,728 - this is the average number of electors in each constituency, outside Orkney and Shetland. The electoral quota is fixed and is used throughout the review. The average electorate for each region is 489,914.

In previous reviews of parliamentary constituencies in Scotland, the Commission relied on the use of local government wards as building blocks for constituencies. In 2007, a new structure of local government wards was introduced in Scotland to accommodate proportional representation for local authority elections, with much larger wards that each return either 3 or 4 members. As a result, in many areas across Scotland it is not possible to use the significantly enlarged wards to construct revised constituencies within the terms of the statutory rules. As a consequence, the boundaries for the proposed constituencies have been created from whichever geographic feature or boundary creates a constituency approaching electoral parity, while respecting community ties wherever possible.

Each constituency is designated as either a burgh constituency (BC) or county constituency (CC) – this designation affects the regulations concerning election expenditure.

Maps of Current and Proposed Constituencies and Regions

The Commission has produced sets of maps showing the current constituency and region boundaries, its Provisional Proposals and its Revised Recommendations. The relevant maps are displayed at selected council offices, libraries, etc. for the duration of the consultation. The locations for display are listed in Statutory Notices which are being published today in newspapers, and are also available on the Commission's website. The maps are also available in PDF, GIF and TIF format on the Commission's website at www.bcomm-scotland.gov.uk.

A media webpage giving access to images for use in media publications is available at http://www.bcomm-scotland.gov.uk/1st\_holyrood/media/April\_09.htm.

Local Inquiries

Where representations objecting to a proposal concerning a constituency are made by a local authority covering the constituency, or by a body of 100 or more electors resident in the proposed constituency, and no Local Inquiry has already been held in the area as part of the review, the Commission will hold a Local Inquiry. Otherwise, a Local Inquiry may be held, but is not obligatory.

Where representations objecting to a proposal concerning a region are made by a council whose area is wholly or partly within the region, or by a body of 500 or more electors in the proposed region, and no Local Inquiry has already been held about the proposal as part of the review, the Commission will hold a Local Inquiry. Otherwise, a Local Inquiry may be held, but is not obligatory.

Implementation of the Recommendations

The Commission is required to submit its report on the review to the Secretary of State for Scotland by 30 June 2010. It is the Secretary of State for Scotland's duty to lay the Commission's report before the UK Parliament together with a draft Order in Council giving effect to the recommendations. The draft Order is submitted to both Houses of Parliament for approval and the new boundaries take effect at the next general election to the Scottish Parliament following the making of the Order.

A copy of the Commission's report must also be laid before the Scottish Parliament.

Elections to the European Parliament

The Commission is aware that these proposals are being published during preparations for the European Parliament elections on 4 June 2009. In deciding upon the publication date for these proposals, the Commission took this into account, together with the constraints of the legislative timetable governing the review. A later publication date would jeopardise the required completion of the review by June 2010.
